

Why do columns compress better than rows?

Let's say you are a Bank and want to make a Person Table with:

name, address, birthdate, gender, ssn, fica_score, acct_bal, height

What column families would you make?

What does the current database look like in Tuple-Storage format?